[Associated Press by Federal Wireless]
BRVES' FIELD, Boston, Oct. 11.—Before the largest crowd that ever attended a world series game Herbert ("Dutch") Leonard, the star Boston outfielder, outpitched the great Alexander in one of the greatest battles ever played in any world series.

The former St. Mary's College pitcher held the Philadelphia batters to three hits and never wavered throughout the game. The crowd, which numbered 42,300, went wild with enthusiasm when Boston won out in the last of the ninth by a score of 2 to 1.

California were very much in evidence today, as Leonard who defeated the Quakers in an ex-st. Mary's College player and George ("Duffy") Lewis and Harry Hooper, who started the game in the ninth, are both from the western states. Lewis scored the winning run with a single sharply to left center with two out.

At noon today the stands were filled and the largest crowd that had ever gathered to watch a world series contest were packed in the stands. Excitement was at a height hardly to be expressed.

From all over New England excursion trains brought thousands of fans to the field. Philadelphia representatives came on special trains and the royal rosters of Boston occupied a prominent place in the stands. The word went out this morning that Alexander was to pitch, and when the game began there was not a vacant seat in the largest park in the country.

Heroes Are Numerous
There were many heroes in today's game of thrills. Leonard was a favorite. The fans forgot his recent fall from grace, and the southpaw stood out as a great pitcher today. He kept Carrigan and Luderus and other batters of the Quakers quiet. Never was he in danger of weakening. Boston has always known that the Californian has a strong heart and never was it so much in evidence as today. He faced the task of outpitching the greatest player of the day and when the last man was out in the ninth inning, the crowd as one gave the pitcher the honors that were his due.

Another player who vied with Leonard today in the favor of the crowd was Duffy Lewis. The Red Sox outfielder was a tower of strength at bat for the locals. Alexander could not stop him. Four times the fast outfielder faced the great Alexander and three times he started the Boston fans with hits that went far out in the outfield. He wins Game With Single.

And in the ninth Lewis was the great hero of the day. With Hooper on third and two men out, the crowd pulled for Lewis to hit again. Twice before he had bowed to the wishes of the vast multitude and delivered a timely bingle. This time they waited. Alexander stood or fell on the result of the play. If Lewis delivered it meant the downfall of the great Quaker twirler. If he failed the game would go to extra innings. The crowd gave a long cry of encouragement. Seldom before in the history of a world series game in Boston had the excitement been at such a fever heat. As Alexander used his short delivery there was a silence that was impressive. Lewis was smiling. He had beaten the star of the pitching world on two occasions. Hooper was set at third base ready for a dash to the plate. And then came the final play of the game.

Alexander used all his cunning, but as the ball sailed toward the plate Lewis started his swing and the ball sailed to the outfield, the Philadelphia fielders made one last attempt to stop it.

PLANS FOR TEMPLE ARE BEING MADE IN UTAH

The local church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints reported today that it has not yet received any information as to when an architect will be sent here from Salt Lake City to arrange for the construction of a Mormon temple at Lake, this island. Plans for the temple are now being made in Salt Lake, according to Elder Ernest L. Miner, and it is not expected that the architect will arrive here until next spring.

OFFICIALS GET NO REPORTS OF K-7 BREAKDOWN

New Submarine Flotilla Coming at Rate of 7 1/2 Knots, Due Late Thursday

Apparently the report printed this morning in a local paper that the submarine K-7 had broken down and that Comdr. R. N. Freeman was on board the crippled craft has no foundation in fact.

Lieut. K. B. Crittenden, commanding the first submarine division, this morning denied absolutely that any such report had been received either by him or Rear-Admiral Clifford J. Boush, commandant at the naval station.

"If there was any breakdown neither Rear-Admiral Boush nor myself have been notified of it," he said. "We received a radio at noon yesterday giving the position of the Maryland and the K boats as 780 miles from this port. Nothing was said about any breakdown, and I don't think there has been any."

"Comdr. Freeman is not on the K-7 either. A radio we received Saturday night from Capt. Sumner E. W. Kettle of the Maryland, stated that Comdr. Freeman is on board the K-3. Lieut. Crittenden said that at the rate the four K boats are progressing the chances are good that they will reach here some time Thursday, probably in the afternoon. If they do not get in then the division will arrive Friday morning."

"They are making a slow trip," observed Lieut. Crittenden today. "The K boats have been going only an average of seven and a half knots, which isn't particularly speedy."

The four boats of the K type, listed as the third submarine division, are being conveyed by the Maryland, the Narragansett and the Iroquois. "The F-2 and F-3 are ready to leave right this minute if the Maryland and another boat were here to tow them back," added Lieut. Crittenden this morning. "The F-1 will be ready to leave some time between October 25 and November 1."

RESERVOIR NO. 4 FAST BECOMING DANGER TO CITY

Dr. J. S. B. Pratt Tells Governor Harry Murray and Loan Fund Men of Health Menace

Unsanitary conditions of Reservoir No. 4 in Nuuanu valley as seen from the standpoint of a guardian of the public health, were vividly portrayed by Dr. J. S. B. Pratt this morning when he stood before the governor, the general manager of Honolulu's water system and the Oahu Loan Fund Commission, recently appointed, and told in a straightforward way his opinion of the water that is being supplied to the citizens of Honolulu from this source.

Dr. Pratt came at the request of the governor to make his statement to the Loan Fund Commission. He stated that he had gained his views from recent visits that he makes each summer to the reservoirs in Nuuanu on

CHIEF QUARANTINE OFFICER DOES NOT WORRY OVER TYPHUS

"If there is any outbreak of typhus fever in Australia, the bill of health on the next ship from there will show it," said Dr. F. E. Trotter, chief federal quarantine officer at this port, today, when shown an Associated Press despatch stating that the disease has broken out in the state of Victoria.

"I have heard nothing of the reported epidemic," said the physician, "and I doubt if it amounts to anything. There will be the same methods as usual followed in inspecting the next boats from Australia. No one having the disease or likely to have it would be allowed to leave an Australian port anyway."

Dr. Trotter said that if there were any cases in Australia they could not have been brought in by Australian troops, as they have been serving only in the Dardanelles and not in Serbia, where typhus has been raging. He said the disease might possibly have been communicated to Australian troops by wounded sent to the English base hospital in Alexandria from Serbia, but that this was unlikely.

The doctor said he had received no information from federal health authorities concerning any such outbreak.

FIGHT AGAINST CHARTER DRAFT

County and Municipal Affairs Committee Wants Convention to Hear Arguments

RESEARCH CLUB-ACHI COMPROMISE IS PLAN

Pacheco Thinks Delegates May Refuse Civic Federation Public Meeting Place

Dissatisfaction with the majority report of the committee of 15 of the charter convention is spreading and deepening, and two concerted moves are being made in an effort to frustrate the adoption of the charter which the majority report will recommend to the convention at the meeting to be held tomorrow evening at the roof garden of the Alexander Young hotel.

Besides the opposition of the Civic Federation, which crystallized Saturday night at a meeting where a resolution was adopted asking for a public meeting, the Chamber of Commerce is also taking a hand.

As a meeting of the county and municipal affairs committee of the chamber, held Saturday morning, a resolution was passed asking that the committee be allowed to appear before a committee of the whole of the charter convention before the convention takes any decisive action. Convention rules, it was said today, will not permit listening to any representations as a convention, in open session, so that the expedient of appearing before the committee of the whole was adopted.

Letter to Convention.
The following letter was then sent to Mr. C. Pacheco, chairman of the convention:

"October 9, 1915.
"Mr. M. C. Pacheco, Chairman,
and Delegates to the Charter Convention,
Honolulu, Hawaii.
"Gentlemen:
"It has been brought to the attention of the Chamber of Commerce of Honolulu that two reports are to be returned to the charter convention on

SPECIAL VENIRE NEEDED TO HEAR ANCIENT MATTER

Scully-Chilton Conspiracy Case Goes to Trial After Wait of Nearly Eighteen Months

The year-and-a-half-old case of John T. Scully and Willmott R. Chilton, indicted by the territorial grand jury on a charge of conspiracy, went on trial in Circuit Judge Ashford's court this morning.

Twelve of the trial jurors were called into the box. Examination by opposing counsel as to their qualifications soon exhausted the panel, leaving 11 men in the box. The court ordered a special venire of six persons, which was returned at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The trial of the case probably will take three days.

The members of the special venire are F. K. Gerard, C. W. Hustace, Henry H. C. Reinecke, George E. McCriston, Thomas T. Miles and Andrew Bright. Those members of the original panel who were in the box at 2 o'clock were George Dwight, H. E. Spicer, E. F. Aguilar, W. K. Rees, Sam Nuuanu, J. A. Noble, W. T. Raposo, R. E. Turner, W. K. Hutchison, W. M. Buchanan and F. E. Colby.

Scully and Chilton were indicted with J. H. Fischer, assistant to Liquor License Inspector Fennell, the charge being that they conspired to "spirit" a witness from a meeting of the board of liquor license commissioners, which was investigating the application of the erstwhile Waikiki Inn for a second class liquor-selling permit.

At the instance of City Attorney A. M. Brown, the case against Fischer was nolle prossed a few weeks ago. Scully and Chilton entered pleas of not guilty after the court had overruled several motions to quash and demurrers to the indictment.

AUSTRO-GERMANS TAKE MAIN CITY EASILY BUT MOUNTAINS TO SOUTH ARE DEFENSE LINE

French War Office Declares German Offensive at Loos Stopped With Heavy Losses

[Associated Press Service by Federal Wireless]
LONDON, England, Oct. 11.—The first decided stand of the Serbian army against the Austro-German invaders is expected to be made in the mountain range 50 miles south of Belgrade, near Kraguyevatz.

This high ground, with its deep defiles and precipitous slopes, affords an admirable defensive line. This was proved in the last Austrian invasion a year ago when the Austrians easily took Belgrade and forced the Serbians to retreat into the mountains. The Austrians could not, however, make any progress against the Serbs after the natural defenses were reached and heavy losses were inflicted on them.

The invasion of Serbia has aroused the fighting spirit throughout the country. Men of all ages and women as well are working on the defenses and are armed to repel the attacking forces.
